

Additional Resources

The Council website relies on a number of key resources. There are a few other sites, publications, forums, and social media links you can subscribe to that might be helpful:

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention host newsletters containing the latest research and best practices around brain injury. <https://www.cdc.gov/traumaticbraininjury/index.html>

The TBI Model Systems Knowledge Exchange Center works closely with researchers in the 16 TBI Model Systems to develop resources for people living with traumatic brain injuries and their supporters. These evidence-based materials are available in a variety of formats such as printable PDF documents, videos, and slideshows. <https://msktc.org/tbi>

BrainLine is a national multimedia project offering information and support to anyone whose life has been affected by brain injury or PTSD: people with brain injuries, their family and friends, and the professionals who work with them. <https://www.brainline.org/about-us/newsletter-sign-up>

The National Association of State Head Injury Administrators (NASHIA) provides information on national trends, best practices, and state contacts to federal agencies, state and national associations and TBI stakeholders across the country. There are numerous materials and resources on the site: www.nashia.org

National Center on Applied Person-Centered Practices and Systems-Brain Injury Learning Collaborative
